

How to eliminate the battery cabinet alarm

Overview

How do I remove a battery from my alarm?

You can quickly remove the old battery whilst the alarm is sounding as they have push on /pull off connectors. Close the panel and disarm the alarm in the usual way and the alarm will stop. You can now take the original battery with you when you go looking for a replacement. The alarm will still work without it.

Should you pull a battery from a home alarm?

With an older unit, Mitchell's advice was to try pulling the battery to stop the beeping. I did just that with the 2010-vintage alarm box in our basement, and the result was silence.

What should I do if the battery low alarm is output?

If the BATTERY LOW alarm is output, save the machining programs, tool data and parameters to an input/output device, and then replace the battery. If the BATTERY alarm occurs, the machining programs, tool data and parameters may be damaged. After replacing the battery, reload each data item. 3. Items related to maintenance.

How do I silence the on battery alarm?

To silence the On Battery Alarm, press the "ON/MUTE" button. OVERLOAD! The UPS will then begin a countdown. If the UPS is still overloaded at the end of the countdown, the UPS will automatically go to Bypass Mode to protect its inverter. The duration of the countdown varies with the severity of the overload, as follows:
